

MD Instruction User Guide

What is MD Instruction?

MD Instruction is a light-weight video collection designed for medical students preparing for physical exams. It gathers and categorizes videos so students can access them easily.

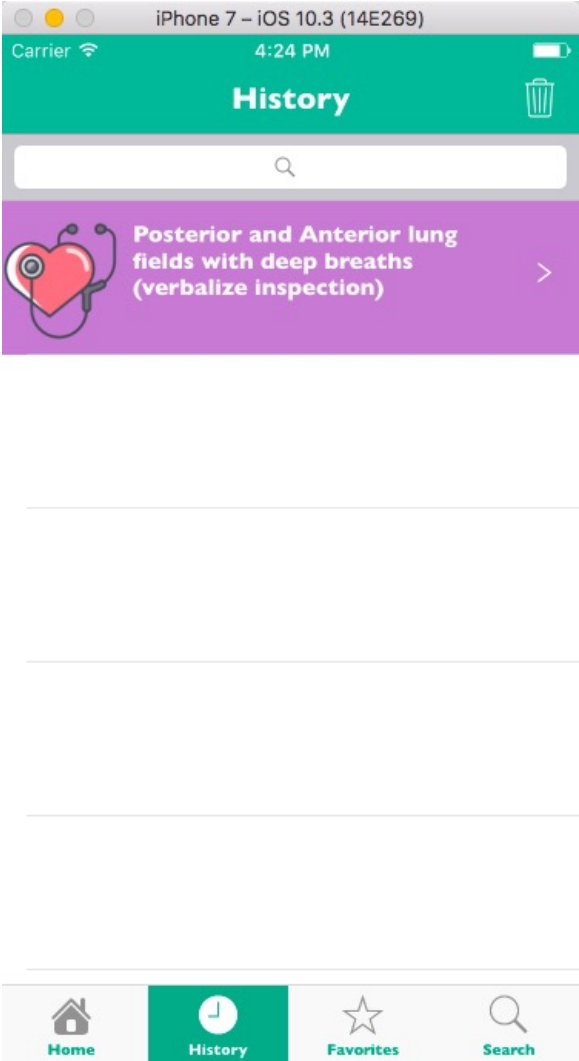

Home tab:

There are four tabs : Home, History, Favorites and Search. In the Home tab you can navigate from top level section to bottom level videos. For example if you click Repository → Inspection → Posterior and Anterior lung fields with deep breaths:

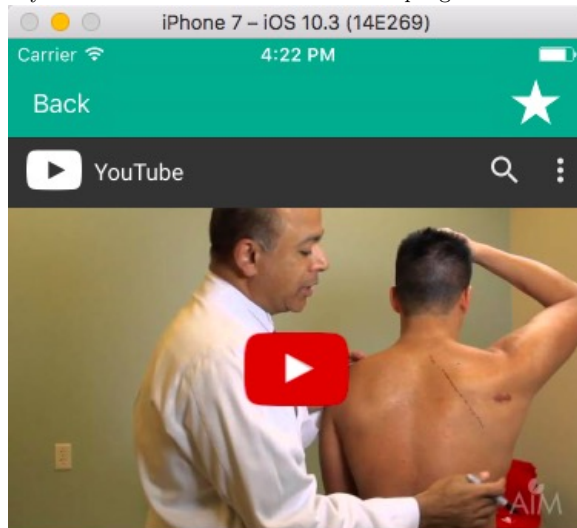

History tab:

Then the tag of the watched video would appear in History.

Favorites tab:

If you click on the star button on the top right corner of video page you can mark a video as favorite, and find it in Favorites tab.

Percussion of the Chest (Stanford Medicine 25)

Stanford Medicine 25 · 258,335 views

1K 31

Bate's Guide to Physical Examination, Thorax and Lungs, 1

Monyrak So
33,770 views

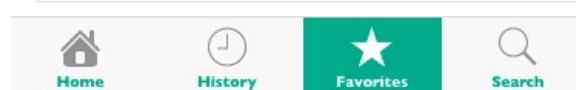

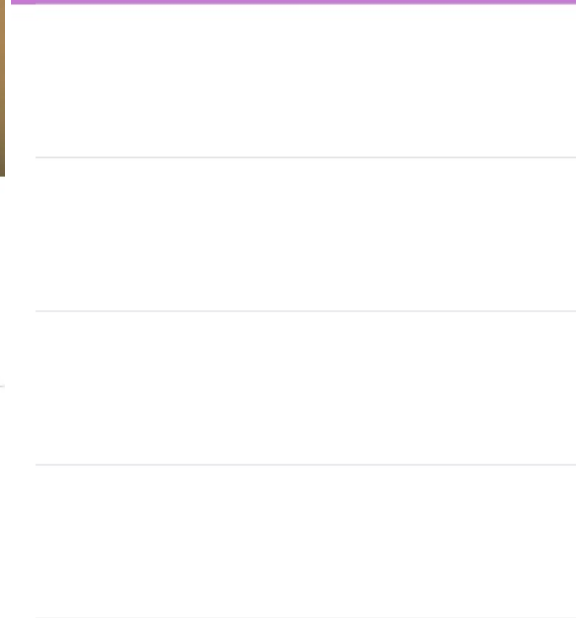

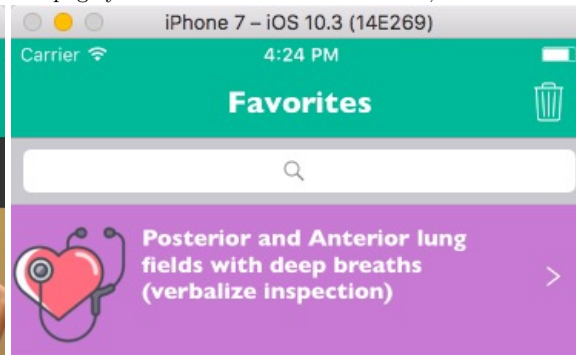

Percussion for Beginners

HippocraTV
94,401 views

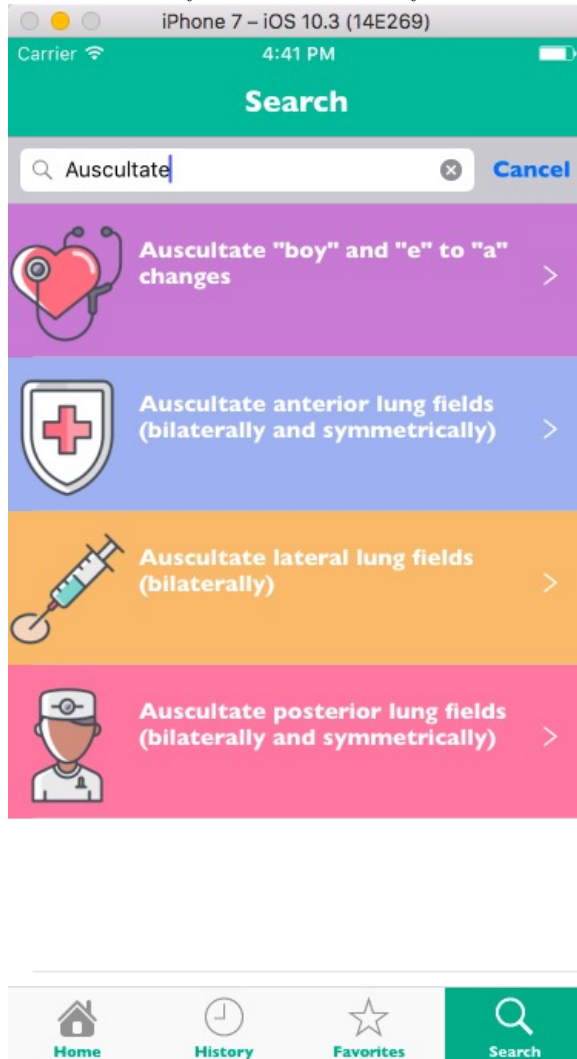

Rich man acted like a jerk to all his nurses. then karma strikes!

Search tab:

In the Search tab you can search video by its name.

Name tag:

By swiping name tag of a video to the left in History tab or Favorites tab you can find two buttons, namely Delete and Mark as Read. While in Search tab you could only find Mark as Read button.

